Third Victory Loan Collections Total $51,550

Council Invests $3,500 In Victory Bonds

Send Wire to W. A. Fallow For Immediate Start on Flood Control Work in West Coleman

Council held its regular meeting on Monday evening. Present: Deputy Mayor Abousafy, Councilors Cox, Ford, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Town Auditor Batrum in a discussion on the town's finances had informed some members of the council that the town was in a position to buy Victory bonds and suggested that $3,500 be purchased. Upon this advice, presented at the council meeting on Monday, it was unanimously agreed to invest $3,500 in the Third Victory loan bond issue.

A letter was received from Mrs. A. Duputak asking for a new outfit in winter clothing. Request was granted.

The Ukrainian-Russian societies are sponsoring a public meeting in Coleman on November 8. They asked the town to have a representative at the meeting. The letter will be turned over to Mayor Antrobus.

A request was received from some Fourth Street residents asking that a street light be installed between the present lights at St. Alban's church and Hopkins' corner. Light and Water committee was authorized to investigate.

Council agreed to a request from the local Victory Loan committee that it meet a few small bills pertaining to the Victory Loan campaign.

As winter approaches and little or nothing has been done so far to eliminate the danger of flood next spring, council is now adopting more aggressive methods to bring this matter before the proper authorities. A wire was authorized to be sent to W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, pointing out to him the danger of another flood similar to that experienced this spring and asking for immediate action to remedy the matter. The co-operation of E. O. Duke, M.L.A. will also be sought.

A complaint was made regarding the poor drainage at the side of Mrs. J. Fraser's residence. Town Foreman Nikituk was instructed to remedy the matter.

Light and Water committee recommended that a street light be placed at the entrance to the back alley at the Bouden residence on Second street east.

Council dealt at considerable length with the request of Mrs. John Gamauche for coal and clothing. This request had originally been sent to the council when she had considered it a union matter and hence had sent it to the council. Since Mrs. Gamauche is receiving a Mother's Allowance she was not eligible for relief from the town. The request was finally sent back to the union with a letter of explanation as to why the council was unable to act on this request. It was recommended to the union that they seek the aid of the local Red Cross.

As a result of the above request Council will send a letter to the provincial government urging the restoration of the cut taken out of the Mothers' Allowance monthly grant approximately four years ago. It was also urged that in addition to restoring the grant to its original figure a cost-of-living bonus be also added.

A request was received from

RED CROSS MAKE ANOTHER SHIPMENT TO HEADQUARTER

This week the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross sent another large shipment of clothing to provincial headquarters at Calgary. It included 36 sheets, 30 towels, 47 pillow cases, 2 babies' blankets, 16 babies' night dresses, 18 babies' diapers, 3 babies' bonnets, 3 babies' booties, 3 babies' jackets, 4 pairs socks, 5 shirts, 2 undershirts, 2 baby binders, 2 boys' dressing gowns, 4 boys' sweaters, 12 pairs pajamas.

Elks Initiated Eight New Members on Thursday

Enjoy Social Evening; Will Visit Blairmore Next Tuesday With Travelling Gavel.

Coleman Elks gave their membership a big boost on Thursday evening when eight new members were initiated into the lodge. There are now eighty-nine paid up members, including fourteen who are in the armed services.

Following the business session a social evening was enjoyed. The membership boasts of four good singers, Harry Drew, Stanley Atkinson, Adam Wilson and Howard Davies, who all obliged with solos. Community singing was also enjoyed as well as sandwiches and refreshments.

The attendance was R. C. Olds, president of the Alberta Elks Association and some Blairmore visitors.

On Tuesday next a large contingent will travel to Blairmore with the travelling gavel. This gavel will journey to Blairmore, Granum, Macleod and Coleman. The lodge having the most members, based on its membership, travelling with the gavel to another lodge will retain possession of the gavel for one year. Coleman has held possession of the gavel for the past three years. Tuesday night's visit will be the first time the gavel has travelled this season.

Lions And Elks Aid In Salvage Campaign

School Children Continue to Make Fine Contribution to Campaign.

Activities of Coleman's salvage committee have grown to the point where the few members of the committee are unable to cope with all the salvage obtainable and it has been found necessary to seek the aid of members of the local Elks and Lions clubs.

The school children are maintaining their enthusiasm in collecting and bringing salvage to the local school depots at central and Cameron schools. In order to remove the salvage from these depots quickly and transport them to the main depot on main street, gangs of Elks and Lions will alternate weekly in loading the salvage in a truck and take it to the main street depot. In addition citizens are reporting heavy salvage which is obtainable throughout the town and district. This too will be picked up by these gangs of workers.

Chairman Frank Abousafy points out to the children that salvage such as paper, bed springs, and tin are not wanted at the present time and he desires that they do not collect this class of salvage. He encourages them to bring salvage such as rubber, rags, metals, glass, fags, etc., as they are able to bring.

The town band that it be allowed to practice in the council chamber. Since the bottom floors in the town hall have recently been sanded and varnished council granted permission but added the rider that the band had to leave the chamber in the same condition as they found it.

Local Victory Bond Collections Creep Slowly Towards $75,000 Goal; Canvassers Still Busy

Collections on Thursday Morning Totalled $51,550; Numerous Homes Still to be Canvassed

Coleman citizens continue to pour part of their savings into Canada's Third Victory Loan. On Tuesday evening the canvassers had collected $49,250 or 65% of their $75,000 quota.

The large subscriptions are fewer in number than in loans of the past, and this must be made up with additional smaller subscriptions. The bulk of the citizens, knowing the dire need the government has for their money, are buying $50 and $100 bonds, and where the cash is not available, are taking advantage of the six-months-to-pay schedule.

The local drive was given a big boost by the council, which purchased $3,500.

The Victory Loan thermometer at headquarters is slowly creeping towards its goal as it rises closer and closer to the $75,000 mark. This morning collections totalled $51,550, leaving $23,450 still to be raised.

The bulk of the homes have been canvassed, but there remains numerous others which still have to be solicited. A number of homes have to be re-canvassed due to the householders being undecided when canvassers first called. Others

Citizens Obeying Overseas Mailing Advice

Postmaster Graham Pleased at Response to Mail Early; Overseas Mail Gaining in Volume.

Postmaster Graham has voiced his pleasure at the manner in which local citizens are following the advice of postal authorities and mailing their overseas parcels early. Instructions appearing in The Journal and daily papers stressed the point that parcels should be in the mails not later than Nov. 10 for overseas Christmas delivery.

Postmaster Graham reports that many parcels have already been sent overseas, among them being the 72 parcels mailed last Thursday by the Soldiers' Comfort fund committee to overseas soldiers. As the Nov. 10 deadline approaches, the volume of overseas mail is gradually increasing.

As a result of the increased postal work at the local office, the postmaster makes a plea to all citizens and especially the business men to get their letters for the east-bound train into the post office by 1:30 p.m. This gives the staff time to cancel the stamps and place them in the proper mail bags. Too many are waiting till the last minute before mailing their letters. The practice of taking letters to the train is also being discouraged as the mail clerks on the trains have all the work they can handle in making ready mail bags for various towns enroute and letters received at each station added to their work, as they have to cancel and the stamp on each piece of mail. It is to be hoped that the business men will get their mail to the post office on time in future.

LIONS' MILK-FOR-BRITAIN FUND A SUCCESS

The younger set from all Pass towns gathered at Turtle Mountain Playgrounds on Thursday last, where they attended the dance sponsored by Coleman Lions in aid of the Milk-For-Britain fund. Arcadians' orchestra was in attendance. It is estimated $60 was raised for the fund.

Wilfrid Dutil was a Calgary business visitor for a few days during the week.

Improvement has been made to the ditch alongside the Red & White store on Central avenue. Concrete drainage pipes have been laid and covered over by gravel, thereby eliminating the deep and unsightly ditch.

COLEMAN SOLDIER RETURNED TO CANADA

Last week the Cigarette Fund committee received the following acknowledgement card back from Britain: "Dear Sir: Cigarettes received here have been distributed amongst the personnel of this unit as the man has been returned to Canada. We thank you." It is signed by B. Boulton, Hut Services, 8th Cdn. Gen. Hospital, Can. Army Overseas. The committee is at a loss to know which soldier has been sent home as no local soldier's name was recorded on the card.

Youngsters To Celebrate Halloween On Saturday

Stores Have Displays of Candy, Fruit and Nuts; Council Warns Against Vandalism.

Saturday night is Halloween and therefore children's night. They are expected to be out in full force, wearing their weird masks and costumes, and carrying their sacks which all endeavor to fill with candies, nuts and fruit.

The stores have a wide selection of suitable candy for Halloween, and make have been selling at a fast pace for the past two weeks. Citizens lend themselves to the occasion and in addition to getting real enjoyment in making the youngsters happy with various delicacies, they get much fun in hearing many of them dance, or recite as payment for these delicacies.

In past years, the youngsters have not created a great deal of damage. There have been many windows liberally souped and perhaps a few gates hung on nearby posts, which bring a few cuss words from the parties who have to wash the windows and climb the posts, but on the whole no real damage was done.

This year, however, it has been brought to the notice of the authorities that some youngsters are bent on mischief. As a result, the police will be on duty and warn against vandalism. Those damaging property will be made stand good for the damage. Children can enjoy themselves without damaging property.

Rev. J. E. Kirk New Lions Secretary

P. Dickieson Gave Talk on Identification of Planes; Lions To Aid in Salvage Drive.

The regular super-meeting of the Lions club was held on Monday evening. Due to Lion Frank Hastie, club secretary, having left to join the armed forces, the club was without a secretary. This vacancy was quickly filled by the members, who elected Lion Joe Kirk to the position.

Following supper, Lion Percy Dickieson gave a very interesting and informative talk on the identification of planes. Added interest was given his talk by the showing of slides of various planes now being used as trainers in the air training scheme and those being used in the theatres of war.

Salvage Chairman Frank Abousafy, in a brief address, asked the Lions to aid in the salvage drive. He explained that the Elks had been approached and had voiced their intention of aiding in the collection and shipping of salvage. With both the Lions and Elks alternating each week no individual would be asked to give too much of his time to the campaign. Lions Jack Chalmers and Percy Dickieson were elected captains of two groups of men who will be on deck whenever the salvage committee needs their services.

Frank Barringham Writes

The Journal received a pleasant surprise the other day, when a letter was received from Frank Barringham, for many years Coleman's ace taxi driver. He left here last year for reasons of health and states in part: I still work at the shipyards bolting up steel. I took up my belt another inch today. I wore a 42-inch belt when I came here first, now a 38-inch is lots big for me and I feel better for it. Uno Gudmundson, Andy Gardiner, Johnny Milley, George Milley, Gordon Milley, Rene Baydens and Pernie Beck all work where I work and my belt seems only natural.

Frank remarks that he often thinks back to the evenings when he enjoyed a foursome at billiards and sends his regards to all his old friends.

The Journal, he states, reaches him every Monday evening, and enclosed his cheque for a renewal subscription.

72 Parcels Mailed to Boys Overseas

Parcels Prepared And Mailed By Soldiers' Comfort Fund Committee; Dominion Parcels to be Shipped November 20.

Added Christmas cheer is on its way to 72 Coleman boys now serving overseas in the armed services. On Thursday last the committee of the Coleman Soldiers' Comfort Fund prepared and mailed 72 parcels containing socks, gum, razor blades, Christmas cake, candy, chocolate bars and handkerchiefs.

These parcels and those shortly to be mailed to Coleman boys at present stationed in the Dominion are made possible by the efforts of the Ladies Auxiliary B.R.S.L., who, when canvassing for funds, go under the name of the Soldiers' Comfort Fund committee, comprised of Mrs. H. Turner, convenor, Mrs. J. Rose, president, and Mrs. G. Derfysafy, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. A. Easton, Mrs. E. Hill, Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. W. Hopkins, Mrs. W. Martland, Mrs. R. Lloyd, Mrs. H. Hulbert, Mrs. R. Parry and Mrs. H. Houghton.

Funds are raised by sales of fancy work, pantry sales, and teas, also raffles and selling tags on sports events. By this means they are able to raise several hundred dollars annually. The committee and a number of friends have knitted over 120 mittens, all of which are being sent to members of the armed forces.

The next committee meeting will be held on November 20, when arrangements will be made for sending Christmas parcels to the boys located in the Dominion. Despite the many appeals made to the public for soldiers' addresses, there are still a number of boys whose addresses are unknown. Again the committee appeals for the addresses and has set the deadline for November 20. Boys whose addresses are not known on that date will be unable to get a parcel.

The committee desires to express thanks to those who have knitted or donated goods for the parcels to the Salvation Army for the use of the Army hall for preparing the parcels, and to the general public for supporting their social, raffles and sporting events and so making it financially possible to send the parcels.

Vandalism Will Not Be Tolerated On Halloween

Children Warned That Police Will Be on Duty; Can Enjoy Themselves Without Causing Damage.

It would appear from reports received at the council meeting on Monday evening that the youngsters are already preparing for a big night on Halloween.

While the council is not opposed to them having a good time it is opposed to property being damaged. As a result the police will be out Halloween to see that all youngsters behave themselves.

Ten-aged youths should keep in mind that householders in these days of war are hard enough pressed to support charitable institutions, pay income tax, unemployment insurance, etc. without having to pay for property damage which is not of their own making.

Tribute To A Friend

J. C. KIRKWOOD

John Campbell Kirkwood, Toronto, is a writer on advertising so well known across Canada that his initials alone, "J.C.K.", is his signature.

Two weeks ago they invited him to a tea at the National Club and presented a whopping big check and a Book of Remembrance, being a red morocco volume, 10x13, front gold embossed, and containing nice words from hundreds of admirers from coast to coast.

It was a timely gesture, because back of it all was a sincere admiration for John Kirkwood—the man.

Unselfish, kindly, helpful to old and young, in the advertising world he has reached the age of three score and ten (plus) shedding an aura of goodwill to everyone with whom he contacted.

He started, as so many successful men do, in a small town (Brampton, Ont.) writing ads for his father's grocery at the rate of 150 a year, then went to the U.S.A. He came back to Canada, then over to England on the "Daily Mail". He returned to Canada, then England called him again and finally in 1930 he became editor of "Marketing" in Toronto and settled for good in the Dominion.

Perhaps J.C.K. is best understood in his reply to the presentation committee when he quoted:

"What I spent, I had.

What I saved, I lost.

What I gave, I have."

His ability to store away facts in his mind for future reference, his deep study of human nature, and his power to find some good in every man and every situation has kept him serene through the years and enabled him to counsel and guide numerous young people of both sexes who wanted to enter an advertising career—all without thought of remuneration other than "thanks" from the recipient.

I have known John Kirkwood thirty odd years. I am proud to be called his friend. He has helped me simply by being a friend, as he has thousands of others.

If we could multiply the J.C.K.'s of this world, all troubles could be settled amicably, because they wouldn't quarrel, but reason matters without thought of politics, profit or position.

May I someday deserve to be ranked in the same class as a man, with J.C.K. May he long continue to be a force for good in his chosen profession. That is the earnest wish of all who know him, including the writer.—PRATT KUHN.

Loose Talk

Commercial Travellers To Spike Idle Rumors

Commercial travellers—some 40,000 of them—will be enlisted immediately into a plan to "spike idle rumors and silence rumor mongers," delegates of the six commercial travellers' associations in Canada have decided.

The campaign against "loose talk," granted already the approval of Ottawa, pledges commercial travellers first, to refrain from relaying rumors and, by precept and example to discourage the spreading of them by others. Theme of the campaign is: "You're never sorry for what you don't say."

WHISTLER WAS LATE

It was seldom that Oscar Wilde encountered anyone who could match his own supreme, never-failing, self-assurance. But in James McNeill Whistler, the artist, he found one man who could. When Wilde was planning his wedding he invited Whistler to attend. Came the hour for the ceremony and the artist had not arrived. Just as he was about to proceed to the altar the shy bridegroom received a telegram reading: "Am detained. Don't wait." It was signed "Whistler."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF MARRIAGE

Golden text: Let marriage be had in honor among all. Hebrews 13.4. Lesson: Genesis 1:27, 28; 2:18-24; Jeremiah 1:29-46; Matthew 19:6; John 2:1-5.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 128:6. Explanations and Comments

The Companion for Man, Genesis 2:18-24. Our first lesson in July from the first chapter in Genesis gave us the first account of the creation; today our text is from the second account, Genesis 2:18-24. Having created man and placed him in Eden, the Creator declares that it is not good for man to be alone, and resolves to provide him with "a help meet for him," that is, suitable for him. Note that we have two words, a noun and an adjective here, and not our one word "helpmeet."

The Hebrew phrase is literally, "a helper as his counterpart." This is the true idea of woman's relation to man, his counterpart, and whenever "this is realized in marriage, God's purpose is being fulfilled. Unlike in the first account, beasts and birds are created after man, and are designed for man's companionship. They are brought to him to name them. But they are not sufficient to solace his solitude and therefore a woman is created from one of the man's ribs. Matthew Henry quaintly says that woman was taken out of man's side to suggest her equality with him; not out of his feet to imply inferiority, nor out of his head to suggest superiority, but out of his side, implying companionship and equality. The man perceives that this new creation is a part of himself, and accordingly names her wo-man, wife-man.

Verse 24 may be an old saying dating from remote times, when the husband went to the house (tent) of the wife and joined her clan. Still the passage may be merely the narrator's remark.

"The creation of one man and one woman in the ideally perfect state of Eden implies that monogamy is the ideal of the married life. Polygamy and divorce were later accommodations to man's hardness of heart. But from the beginning, (that is, in the original purpose of the Creator) 'It was not so'." (Mt. 19:6, 5).

Magnificent Gesture

How A British Pilot Saved A German Who Was Shot Down

In marked contrast with the enemy's habit of machine-gunning defenceless airmen is this act of chivalry enacted by a British fighter-pilot during a raid over Malta. It was mentioned in a recent dispatch from that famous island in these words: The pilot saw a German fighter aircraft shot down and the enemy pilot ball out into the sea. He threw his rubber dinghy from the cockpit, and when it hit the water the German was able to scramble into it and was then saved by an R.A.F. launch. In making this gesture the British pilot knew that he was throwing away his own chance of survival in the event of being shot down himself.

Cat Was Crated In An Airplane Shipped To Australia

Somewhere in Britain early this year, an airplane was crated—and with it a cat.

Two months later when the crate was opened in Australia the cat was still alive, crouching in a corner terrified of the light, covered in grease and almost too weak to stand. The crate was deck cargo and the rain driving through interstices collected in the fuselage of the plane and provided drink.

For food the cat licked the grease from various parts of the machine. Some of the duralumin parts from which the protective covering was removed suffered severely by corrosion. —Australian Newsletter.

PRIVILEGES CONSCRIPTED

A clergyman in Britain recently said: "We have been pleasure-loving people, dishonoring God's day. We have preferred motor travel to church going—now there is a shortage of fuel oil. We have ignored the ringing of church bells—now the bells cannot ring except to warn us of invasion. The money we would not give to the Lord's work is now taken from us in taxes and higher prices. The service we refused to give to God is now conscripted for the country."

CHAPTER III

Static quiet came between them and Anne Lowry felt within herself the nerve-taut desperation Erich Kruger once again showed. The lonely road, the dark forest, it seemed, seemed suddenly a hostile spot. The night might hide watching eyes.

"Anne, I beg you—help me," he said. "I am a stranger here, no man for the mountains and woods. If it was ever your friend—" He broke off, leaned so close his dark unshaven face was inches from hers. "I do not like to beg a favor, nor say that you are obligated to me—"

He broke off and this time was silent, letting the implication play its suggestion in the mind of Anne Lowry. He was reminding her of a debt, one he perhaps had never meant to ask repaid, and it was such an enormous debt that payment should be forthcoming without demand. Anne had never forgotten.

It had been more than three years ago, when her father lay ill, dying of fever, and all hope had been gone. And then Erich Kruger came. Anne remembered how he had brushed aside the inept doctor who had said nothing about the unknown fever. Erich had said, "There is one man who can save his life. My father—"

And Anne could never forget that unauthorized night, that mercy flight to Venezuela, nor how at the flight's end Doctor Kruger had found a faint spark of life and fanned it with infinite patience and singular skill until Drew Lowry lived.

All that Erich Kruger now recalled, reminding Anne that there was a debt—a debt that now could be paid.

Anne said, "How can I help you, Erich?" And she saw how that made him relax. He thrust the gun into the pocket of the rough denim jacket he wore.

"You have a house near by?" he asked.

"I live at the hotel, at Halfway House. Father and I operate it, you see."

"A hotel?" He was thinking.

alone. "It might do. I could be a guest. They would not look for me as a guest—except for my clothes. Perhaps you could get me some suitable attire. Anne, I would not be long with you. Once the hue and cry has died down, I shall make my way to Mexico. There I met a friend who will help me get back home, to South America, where I can join my father and be safe. I want only to see Anne. She is my life's work, recovered quickly. I have gone through so much, suffered so greatly."

A question loomed giganticly in Anne's mind. What great trouble was in it? Why was he hunted? Had he committed some ugly crime? She could not bring herself to ask, seeing how desperate he was, and he did not mean to tell her.

"I'll take you to the hotel, Erich," she said. "Dad will know what to do. You will be safe there, for as long as he thinks you should stay."

She straightened around to drive on. The mountain road seemed longer and more hostile than ever before. She drove fast, not saving the station wagon's springs on the rough road. Erich must have found some means of mine for almost at once he dropped his head and dozed off.

Anne stopped the car on the road as soon as the lights of the hotel came into view. She reached out and touched Erich's arm and he started violently and dropped his hand to the pocket holding the gun. Then seeing only her she sheepishly grinned.

"Halfway House is just ahead," she told him. "Only six employees are there. The guests do not start coming until tomorrow. I imagine everyone will be abed by now, but I'll go on ahead and see. It will be best if the help does not see you in these clothes. Wait here, Erich, when I appear in the doorway you will know it is safe to come."

"That is good Anne," he said. "I am grateful to you."

He opened the door and got out into the darkness. He started to open the door then heard it. "You would not plan to betray me?" he asked.

"There is no one more at the hotel than I," she said. "I could not betray you if I wished."

And Erich's eyes, sunken and gleamingly bright, gave him the lie. "You would not give me up to police?"

"There is not a policeman—"

Anne caught herself up on that. It wasn't exactly true, that told him, not a policeman within miles and miles. There were the Forest Rangers over at Squaw Creek, there was Steve Hayes.

"An idea came to you," Erich said. "An idea, yes," she admitted. "I had forgotten the Forest Rangers. They watch out for strangers. You will have to be very careful Erich."

He nodded jerkily, said, "I will watch for the signal."

Anne put the car into gear again and drove on to Halfway House. She parked the station wagon in the drive, then crossed the front verandah and entered the lobby, closing the door behind her. Her father was slouched in an armchair by the radio, which was bringing in a Hollywood show, and smoking his pipe.

"Dad, are the others gone to their rooms?" she whispered.

"Why, yes. Mrs. Bailey was last to go. She was here with me until half an hour ago." He eyed her anxiously. "Hello! Something's up. What is it?"

"Prepare yourself for a shock Drew Lowry," Anne said, forcing her voice gay. "I have an old friend outside. You'd never guess who. It's Erich Kruger!"

He stared disbelievingly. "Erich Kruger here? Oh, no. Erich's thousands of miles from here Anne," he said. A shadowy look darkened his pale thin face. "I know that for certain, Anne. You see, I kept it from you but Erich Kruger is in the drive, then crossed the front verandah and entered the lobby, closing the door behind her."

Her father was slouched in an armchair by the radio, which was bringing in a Hollywood show, and smoking his pipe.

"Dad, are the others gone to their rooms?" she whispered.

"Why, yes. Mrs. Bailey was last to go. She was here with me until half an hour ago." He eyed her anxiously. "Hello! Something's up. What is it?"

"We will not speak of that at once, Erich."

"Then I will say how good it is to see you again. The sight of an old friend can be as satisfying as the sight of a father—almost as pleasant as seeing a sweetheart." Erich put his arm about Drew Lowry's stooped shoulders. "You look better than three years ago, Herr Lowry. And the frau is so much prettier."

His use of the German words made Drew Lowry look anxiously about him. He said, "Sit in that chair by the window."

"Is it possible someone could see me in here?"

"Possible but not probable," Drew Lowry said. "Anne, switch off some of the lights. . . . It will be cozy."

Anne obeyed and as she moved back from the light switch she heard Erich's insistent query: "Who could see? There are neighbors?"

The older man shot Anne a meaningful glance, then reluctantly said, "Erich, there was a policeman—a forest ranger, to be exact—here today looking about. He asked questions about how many people were here in the vicinity and might have come here."

Erich nodded jerkily. "It is possible," he said dully. "I had to go to borrow a car after I crossed the Canadian border. I abandoned it close to the town where I met Anne. This was early this morning, so they would know that I am somewhere close."

He lifted his hands in a pitiful pleading gesture. "If you could know what torment I have suffered, you would understand why I must not be caught. Herr Lowry—"

One hand extended to Drew Lowry, then the other to Anne. "Frau—try to imagine yourself in my place. Think what it means to be hunted like an animal."

Unnoticed, the radio program had given way to an eleven o'clock news broadcast. As Erich paused, the newscaster's voice filled the room. The words had a jolting impact.

"Canadian authorities announce that the German aviator who early yesterday made a daring escape from the Alberta Province prison camp is still at large. It is thought that the man has succeeded in reaching the United States, where police and F.B.I. agents—"

Drew Lowry went and switched off the radio. The sudden quiet seemed explosive. Anne saw a chalky whiteness on Erich's face. She had not guessed until this moment, although that morning she had heard of a news broadcast telling of the escaped prisoner, that Erich Kruger was that sort of a hunted man.

Squaw Creek Ranger Station stood in a forest clearing between the highway and the turbulent creek, a neat row of silver-gray buildings including the administration building, a machine shop, a warehouse and three houses. It was marked by a big sign bearing the Forest Service pine-tree emblem.

At eleven o'clock, Steve Hayes went down the dispatcher's room in the administration building for the weather reports. The reports were monotonously the same: wind, no rain, rising humidity, good weather for timber fires. There was a fire over in the next district, and the radio operator, Clint Bates, handed over a report on it. The fire was being held; it was nothing to worry about. The dispatcher removed the phones from his ears.

"Sheriff Hardy phoned a couple of minutes ago, Steve," he said. "He wants us to keep our eyes open for" strangers. He thinks that escaped German aviator is wandering about Squaw Creek territory."

Steve Hayes nodded. "I've been keeping my eyes open, and if it's here we'll get him sooner or later," he said. He looked suddenly troubled. "The sooner, the better. I hate to have a desperate mug like that loose in my district—with the country dry like this. Given time, hunted men always get the same ideas in the timber—an incendiary fire to throw off pursuit. Then there's the devil to pay."

SMILE AWHILE

"Your husband is a martyr to dyspepsia, I believe."

"Not exactly," replied the long-suffering wife. "He's got dyspepsia all right, but I'm the martyr."

Teacher: "With what weapon did Samson slay the thousand Philistines, Tommy?"

Tommy: "With the axe of the Apostles."

Sutor: "Sir, I would like to marry your daughter."

Father: "Young man, do you drink?"

Sutor: "Thanks, but let's get this other matter settled first."

The newly-married couple were just leaving the registrar's office when the wife remembered she had registered her age as a year older than she actually was.

"Och, never mind," replied her husband, "yell get the auld age pension a year sooner."

Dad: "Well, what kind of grades did you make in your finals?"

Son: "All right in everything but one study, and in that I am like Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln."

Dad: "Why, how's that?"

Son: "I went down in history."

Chairman of the Dance Committee: "Can't you stretch the music a little just a dance or two more?"

Orchestra Leader: "Sorry this isn't a rubber band!"

Miners Send Resolution to McKenzie King

Miners Want Say in Actual Management of Local Mines
At a public meeting addressed
by Harvey Murphy on Sunday, October 18, the following resolution was read and passed as follows:

Coleman, Alberta
Oct. 21, 1942

Hon. W. L. McKenzie King
Prime Minister of Canada
Ottawa, Canada.

Dear Sir:

At a mass meeting held in Coleman, Alberta, October 11, the following resolution was passed unanimously:

We the miners of Coleman realizing the needs of our country's war industries are not satisfied with the output of coal from the mines in Coleman.

We declare that if there was more co-operation between management and union more coal would be produced.

We believe labor should have a say in the actual management.

We do not seek to take advantage of the war and the war situation for selfish reasons nor should the operators.

Therefore we re-affirm our desire to co-operate in the interest of Canada's war effort.

To this effort we dedicate our complete services.
Yours Respectfully
Mack Stigler,
Sec.-Treas.

National Selective Service

Important changes are being made frequently regarding Legislation affecting the manpower situation in Canada. This is necessary, due to the rapid change of conditions created through the war resources. To most people the rapid changes are confusing, when in doubt as to your own personal case, consult your local Selective Service Officer.

These Selective Service Offices have been set up throughout Canada to assist employers and employees in the carrying out of Legislation which affects them, and in order to aid production and conserve manpower, and to bestow every effort in the prosecution of the war.

Use the services of these Selective Service Offices you will receive every attention and courtesy.
Do not move from place to place, quit your work, join the Army, or become employed until you have consulted your local Selective Service Officer, otherwise you may be caused unnecessary inconvenience.

The loss of time from work is a lost to the war effort and an injustice to the fighting forces.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Received your letter dated 20th inst. for which I thank you. Glad to know that you people up there have not forgotten the many that have left you during the past months. From what I hear the men overseas have every reason to be proud of the attitude of the citizens of Coleman and the Legion especially in the efforts put forth in their behalf. Enclosed is a small donation to the fund.

Very truly yours,
Thomas Clarke,
ex-R.M.W.M. Police.

Cigarettes received, thanks a million. Everything going fine and dandy. Just read The Journal, which contains lots of news. Cheerful and best regards.—Spr. E. R.
Kennedy.

Received the tobacco. Thanks a million. Keep sending the tobacco, as about every third parcel only arrives. I am well and hope this card finds all the Coleman boys
ok.—Sgt. W. S. Vollandorf.

THANKS

The Journal acknowledges with thanks the cheerful note received from Mrs. Ernie Houghton (the week which also included her ed "we look forward to getting it

Responsibilities GO WITH RIGHTS

In no other country in the world do citizens enjoy more wholly the privileges and rights of free democracy than do we in Canada.

But the very nature of democracy that creates those rights, creates the responsibility of maintaining them.

Hundreds of thousands of young Canadians have decided that Canada is worth fighting for.
We other hundreds of thousands at home must decide that Canada is worth working for—saving for—lending for.

Self Denial

WILL HELP TO PAVE THE PATH TO VICTORY!

The defeat of Axis plans for a "new order" call for a new order in the manner of living of every Canadian.

Rigid self-denial on our part will mean more and better equipment and greater fighting power for our troops, and fewer lives lost in battle. It will also mean a greater measure of protection for those of us who remain on the home front.

Let us meet this greatest of all National Emergencies with true Canadian courage. Let us, for a while, give up all luxuries, all needless spending.
Let us work harder, save more and put every dollar we can into Victory Bonds, to train and equip more and more soldiers, sailors and airmen to shorten the war. Let us practise real self-denial—always remembering that the most we can do is far less than they at the battle fronts must give.

In everything we plan and do, let us be guided by the knowledge that, "NOTHING MATTERS NOW BUT VICTORY!"

Jim finds times hard. His standard of living has dropped. There are all these new taxes.

Now there's another Victory Loan and Jim is expected to subscribe.

"Rock bottom!" was Jim's first thought. "We're on rock bottom. Just can't find the money!"

He's thought some more since. And he's decided it can be done. Jim says he doubts if Merritt lost much time wondering if it could be done when he crossed that bridge at Dieppe.

"Sure we're working harder than ever—but that never hurt anybody. We're working longer hours and putting our money away in Victory Bonds. Now we'll be paid interest instead of paying it.

"When peace comes we'll have money saved to buy new equipment for our farm—might even put up a new barn—maybe take a holiday!

"Meanwhile, we can't think of any safer or better place to invest our money than in bonds backed by our country. Sharing With England

IN RECENT MONTHS Canadians have begun to experience many of the difficulties caused by the shortage of food and other items important to our way of living. Rationing so far as not been used for many commodities, but in spite of this, the standard of living in most Canadian homes has changed in the past months. These changes have caused some inconvenience, but no real hardship, and for the most part have been cheerfully accepted. We are still able to live comfortably, and even though our purchasing is curtailed we can sit down to bountiful meals and we have fuel, warm clothing and other things essential to health and comfort. Most of us believe that there is still much we could give up, should the necessity arise.

British People Remain Fit

It would be well for us here to remember at all times that many of the shortages we encounter are due to shipment of material to England. Others are due to the fact that ships normally used to bring imported commodities to Canada, are now transporting materials of war. In England, the people are commencing the fourth year of the war. That they are physically fit, and able to carry on their gigantic undertakings is in great measure because of the efficiency and imagination of the Food Minister, Lord Woolton, and his staff. It is said that an uneasy stomach will soon set a man grumbling, and there are few people in England who are not thankful for the way in which their national border has been stocked and shared. In 1939 England imported over fifty per cent of her food, some of it from countries now occupied by the Axis, yet by a tremendous re-organization of supply and distribution it has been possible to keep the British people adequately fed during the war years.

Praise For Food Ministry

In a publication issued recently by the British Ministry of Information it was stated that this has been accomplished through the far-sighted policy and organization of the British Ministry of Food, and the generous help of the Dominions and the United States, who have made their own sacrifices to send food to Britain. It further states that because of this the people of England will turn to the offensive "fighting fit." When we consider what the shipment of essential materials from here mean to the people of Britain, we can be proud that we can share with them in the sacrifices necessary to the winning of the war.

How to feed the war worker has become an important question in thousands of Canadian homes. Our first suggestion is going to be something you may feel that you, personally, can do nothing about. But don't dismiss it on that account. You alone may feel helpless. But you and your friends, and your friends' friends are public opinion; which can still do plenty.

So the first suggestion is that all war workers in a good sized plant should be sold at cost one good nutritious meal during his working period, whatever that is. Surveys conducted by "Nutrition Services" show that industrial workers meals served by a plant-operated cafeteria on a no profit basis are far better than those served by concession cafeterias. Agitation by a worker's committee might rectify the situation if it's wrong in your plant.

And another thing, for those very necessary between meal snacks, the best and most telling stimulants are milk, fruit juices, and that includes tomato juice or cocoa—no soft drinks. It is inconceivable that a general demand for milk or fruit juices, in place of soft drinks, would be ignored.

Now if your plant isn't one of the ideal ones, and some of them are, you know—some plants serve the sort of meals neither simply don't know enough to produce; but if yours isn't one of them you'll have to fall back on the lunch box.

Here are some rules that will make that lunch box meet a proper one:

1. See that it contains these three ingredients: protein, a vegetable (not potato) or fruit and milk will give you any trouble. And neither will protein if you remember that our best sources of protein are meat, fish, eggs, cheese and dried vegetables (like beans).

2. A thermos flask of hot soup or cocoa may just hit the spot. This is purely a matter of taste. The necessity of one hot dish has been shown in recent experiments to be just another superstition. But if your war worker likes one, it obeys rule two, which is palatability.

3. Arrange for the lunch box meal to be as fresh as possible. Don't make it up the night before. And do wrap everything carefully in wax paper to prevent drying.

Another tip—be sure your sandwich fillings are moist but not wet. Avoid soggy sandwiches on the one hand and dry ones on the other. Use whole wheat bread.

A post card request to Western Division of the Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, will bring you a free copy of our authoritative Vitamin Chart.

YUGOSLAVIA'S ARMY

Hitter, so it is reported, is determined to put a stop to the operations of Yugoslavia's guerrilla armies. In view of the fact that such resistance is said to be tying up no fewer than 375,000 Germans, Italians, Bulgarians and Hungarians who are badly needed elsewhere, his resolve may be easily understood.

LONG VOYAGE

A New York newspaper recalls that 100 years ago the corvette, St. Louis, arrived at Norfolk after a voyage lasting three years and 79 days, sailing 75,000 geographical miles. The modern meaning of a corvette is very different, but a corvette was originally a small sailing ship without a quarter-deck.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.
By Alan Maurice Irwin

Where is that man who referred to me and other writers who look things in the face as "you alarmists"? I'd like to take him on a little motor trip—to the Gaspé Peninsula!

That is to say I'd like to take him for that trip but for one thing—it would be a shame to waste gasoline on him. And motor trips are out—except for the ninnies with their heads buried in the sand who still run their cars, "just for a little jaunt on Sundays."

"A little jaunt on Sundays." We are fighting a people who would shoot them for that. So, just because we are not a people who shoot amateur traitors, they blithely disregard signs that even the dullest common man can read, squander life-saving gasoline, year out badly needed rubber and complacently increase the spread of the only portion of their anatomy ever likely to be impaled upon a German or Japanese bayonet.

Some of them, on the long, straight road that follows the St. Lawrence even drive with their headlights full on after dark.

And all this, mind you, after the news has been released that enemy submarines have been active in the Gulf of St. Lawrence!

A black-out has been ordered on the banks of the River St. Lawrence and extending five miles inland.

This has not been done for fun, it has been done because lights on shore enable a navigator to make his way to the point he desires to reach and equally because lights on the shore silhouette any vessel—even a little fishing boat—between the shore and an enemy raider.

So you see this has not been done for fun. It has been ordered because Canada, whether we like to admit it or not, is in the war zone. It has been ordered because lives have been lost on the broad bosom of the mighty waterway, the banks of which Lady Bessborough once described as "arms that reach out to welcome visitors to Canada." There are some visitors Canada does not welcome—hence the need for a black-out.

Shortly after the black-out was ordered, indignant complaints reached the authorities that it was not complete. The answer to this was fairly simple. Many of the farmers living in the country surrounding the river do not read the newspapers, do not listen to radio and did not understand how close the war has come to Canada's shores. They understand now because the authorities quickly devised a plan for notifying every villager, every farmer, of the black-out order and of the reasons for it and the necessity for its observance.

The foregoing paragraph, however, grant no absolutism to the motorists who drove along the highway with their headlights on, headlights that, everytime the road rounded a curve pointed out like twin searchlights across the black waters of the gulf. These were just careless—if any Canadians disregard for the lives of Canadians aloft for the protection of Canada can be called careless motorists who thought more of their own safety and more of the silly "necessity" for speed that would not permit them to dim their lights and proceed at a pace calculated not only to assist the war effort by maintaining the darkness but also to assist it by conserving tires and gasoline.

And it is not only in the black-out areas that such "careless" motorists mar the otherwise bright pages that Canada is writing in the history of these awful war years.

On the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving Day and on Thanksgiving Day itself, you saw for yourself streams of private automobiles that choked the highways surrounding the larger cities. What you thought about it I can guess. What I thought about it, no newspaper can print.

Apparently some selfishness is something that only public opinion applied privately can remedy.

This column, the forty-second, that has appeared in these pages, brings to an end the series known as The Individual Citizen's Army. It comes to an end because this individual citizen no longer will have the time to write a column a week. As a matter of fact, under King's Regulations and Orders governing the Canadian Army, he will not have permission to write for publication, because this "old sweat" puts on the uniform again with "Canada" on his shoulders to enable a younger man, who is fit to move on to one of the fronts on which we all are sure the Canadian Army will soon again victoriously take up the torch thrown to it by falling hands a quarter of a century ago.

Good luck, Alan! You have done a good job for Canada with your column, "The Individual Citizen's Army." You have told us what we needed to know—it has been quite a task for you and we all appreciated your writings. Sorry you can't keep it up but we were doubly proud that you'll wear the uniform again. May all good fortune go with you—you're a real citizen.—Editor.

DEPLORING RUMORS

George W. Spinney, in deploring the rumors that are spread to harm Canada's war effort and urging that these be promptly scotched, defines rumors as usually being nothing more than somebody with big ears listening to somebody with a big mouth. Those are unflattering categories in which no intelligent or loyal person wishes to be included. The point is obvious.

THOUSANDS OF AIRCRAFT FROM BRITISH AND U.S. FACTORIES DELIVERED TO THE MIDDLE EAST

London.—Aircraft by the thousands from British and United States factories have been delivered to the Middle East during the past two years over a 6,000-mile ferry route across equatorial jungle and desert from West Africa.

The air ministry, in lifting the secrecy from one of the greatest jobs yet done by the United Nations, disclosed that the service which started on the basis of two or three convoys a week now operates daily with a negligible loss in planes and personnel.

Bombers, transports and fighters all make up the stream of aircraft moving to the front with fighters carrying extra fuel tanks for the longer hops.

Starting from a great, still-expanding west coast assembly base, each journey takes 24 hours flying time, exclusive of stops at landing fields where engines are checked and planes refueled.

A tremendous job of pioneering and organization has changed the once perilous trips into fairly routine journeys along a route spotted with many emergency landing fields and provided with good meteorological service.

British and United States civilian air companies have contributed to the ferrying operations while natives by the thousands carved intermediate landing areas from dense jungles. Western keystone of the service is a harbor town which had only a small airfield when the program was launched two years ago but now has one of the largest and best equipped airports in the world.

In addition to handling warplanes, the air lifeline has been extensively used by communications planes carrying official mail and personnel and it is probable that after the war the route will be one of the world's great commercial air links.

Among the increasingly large number of pilots working the route are nearly 100 Poles, who themselves have flown more than 1,000 planes across Africa with only a two per cent loss.

Humanity Laws Of Warfare May Be Repudiated

New York.—German propaganda took another ominous step along a course which, although still obscure, might lead toward Axis repudiation of the accepted laws of humanity in warfare under the pretext that the Allies first violated the codes.

The Berlin radio gave circulation to statements attributed to the semi-official German commentary, Deutschland Diplomatisch-Politisch Korrespondenz, that Germany, Italy and Japan have proof "that on the enemy side formal orders were given for warfare contrary to humanity."

The statement added the threat: "The day will come eventually when those responsible will be called to account for their actions."

This newest outburst followed Japan's assertion that captured United States airmen would be punished for inhumanities during bomb raids on Japanese soil, and German charges that the British forces attacked a dressing station for wounded on the North African front.

Reuters quoted a Vichy broadcast of despatches from Stockholm as reporting that Germany and her associates had conferred on plans to denounce the Geneva Convention agreements on Red Cross and war prisoners on the grounds that the 1864 convention had been violated by the United Nations.

The Berlin radio said the Japanese official gazette had published a law permitting factories to apply for prisoners of war workers.

There have been reports that some Americans captured in early stages of the Pacific war had been put to work on docks and such projects, but this was the first intimation that Japan might put them to work in factories.

The Hague convention of 1899 provides that prisoners of war may be used as workers provided their tasks have nothing to do with military operations, and that they shall be paid at the same rate as troops of the country into whose hands they have fallen.

BUYS VICTORY BONDS

Subscription Comes From Prisoner Of War In Germany

Montreal.—A subscription to Canada's third Victory Loan "right from the heart of Germany" was reported by Montreal loan headquarters. The subscription came from FO. B. D. Campbell of the Royal Canadian Air Force, who now is a prisoner of war in a Nazi camp.

FO. Campbell, whose mother, Mrs. R. D. Campbell, lives in suburban Pointe Claire, recently wrote his mother to invest some of his savings in bonds. He added that he had requested Lloyds bank in England to transfer his savings there to Canada so his mother could buy more bonds.

Mrs. Campbell said her son had more than $2,000 invested in Victory Bonds.

UNREST IN EUROPE

Uncertainty Sweeps Country From Norway To The Balkans
Berne, Switzerland.—All Serbia was reported under martial law as a tide of unrest and uncertainty continued to sweep occupied Europe from Norway to France and the Balkans. Martial law was decreed by the puppet Serbian government at Belgrade, said a Budapest despatch to the Basel Nachrichten, Swiss paper, after the Nazi military commander in Serbia, Gen. Bader, announced numerous arrests had been made because insurgents had attempted to organize a revolt against occupation authorities.

The Basel Socialist newspaper, Arbeiter Zeitung, recently reported that the Gestapo had put to death 500 to 600 Serbs who plotted a revolt.

The decree declared that even the defeat in war had not had so serious consequences for the country as had the attempt at revolt.

Swedish newspaper correspondents reported from Norway, according to the Swiss telegraph agency, that the Nazi puppet premier, Quisling, had ordered 25 more clergymen to leave their homes as a result of a pastoral letter read in Norwegian pulpits Sunday calling latest Quisling measures a new attempt against "liberty of the church."

The period to Nov. 1, private advices from Unoccupied France said, represents the extension of time set by Berlin for fulfillment of its labor demands for 150,000 volunteer workers.

It also is the period, informed French observers said they believed, which will demonstrate whether Laval could live up to his position as chief of government in the face of persistent, although thus far scattered, opposition.

Say French Have Big Force Of Men And Ships

London.—Two French officers, just arrived from Vichy territory, said that France has massed at Dakar 500 of the 700 planes it had in Africa.

The officers estimated that the French had about 30,000 regular troops available in Morocco and some 40,000 native troops.

The bulk of the French naval strength in Africa has been gathered at Dakar, the officers reported.

Casablanca, key to the French position in Morocco, was said by the officers to be garrisoned by a force of about 4,000. Troops there were said to have virtually no artillery or tanks.

Casablanca also has 12 submarines, nine torpedo boats and two old light cruisers, they reported. The uncompleted 35,000-ton battleship Jean Bart, sister ship of the Richelieu which is at Dakar, is at Casablanca. The Bart was towed to Casablanca at the time of the French collapse. The officers reported that the Bart had been fitted with some guns but was not completed.

The officers estimated that the French had about 200 planes available in Morocco.

For some months, they said, there had been a steady stream of transfers of French naval units south to Dakar.

The officers reported that some 500 German "civilians" were operating in Morocco in addition to the 100 German officers who were officially there as members of the German armistice control commission.

FOR VICTORY

Co-operation Is Necessary Says New Soviet Envoy

Ottawa.—Close co-operation of all the United Nations is "the necessary condition" for victory, Fedor Gusev, first minister to Canada from the Soviet Union, said in an address accompanying the presentation of his credentials to the governor-general.

He said the Soviet Union, "in co-operation with Canada and the other United Nations," is fighting "a titanic struggle against the enemy of all liberty-loving people of the world."

EXTENSION OF RATIONING IS EXPECTED TO FOLLOW CURTAILMENT OF PRODUCTION

Moncton, N.B.—Extension of consumer rationing will likely follow inevitably upon curtailed production of civilian supplies to release manpower for war purposes, Donald Gordon, chairman of the prices board, declared before the annual meeting of the maritime board of trade.

Outlining the board's program of production curtailment, Mr. Gordon laid down this 10-point "preliminary statement of policy":

1. Use of human and material resources for provision of goods and services for the civilian population will be systematically reduced to the minimum required for the health, efficiency and morale of the nation.

2. Curtailment will proceed in an "orderly and progressive manner, having due regard for the speed required for the war program."

3. The prices board will proceed with curtailment by control of production, supply and distribution. Transfer of labor will be handled by the director of national selective service.

4. Advisory committees will give the board the benefit of practical experience of the various industries.

5. First moves will be the "elimination of obviously non-essential lines and standardization and simplification of continuing lines."

6. The board will try to act on all non-essential production on a basis that will avoid discrimination, but it will not be able to institute parallel moves in all industries at the same time.

7. In the concentration of production in individual industries, manpower requirements in different areas will play an important part, along with the need for power and other services in short supply.

8. It may be necessary for the board to effect a scheme of pooling profits where different businesses within an industry have been curtailed in different degrees in the production of the same article.

9. Maintenance of production for export "will have regard for Canada's commitments and moral obligations to the United Nations or friendly foreign countries."

10. "An extension of consumer rationing is likely to be an inevitable consequence of curtailed production... consumer rationing is essentially a plan to ensure equitable distribution of available supply rather than any attempt to enforce arbitrary deprivations."

Fighters Of Two Wars Compare Notes

In the course of a tour of inspection of Royal Canadian Air Force units overseas, Air Marshal W. A. "Billy" Bishop, V.C., victor over 72 Huns in the last war, dropped into the pilots' room of a Canadian fighter squadron to meet a man whose victories are still very fresh in his mind. The smiling lad in front of the air marshal is Pilot Officer G. B. "Scotty" Murray of Halifax, N.S., who, about a week before, had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his work during the Dieppe raid.

Pilots The St. Roch

Constable Patrick Farrar of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police appears at the wheel of the St. Roch, stout little ship which completed the voyage from Vancouver to Halifax through the famous northwest passage. Never before had such a trip been made.

When a Man Buys a Home...

WHEN a man wants a home, he saves for it. It matters little whether it is a home or a car or what comfort or luxury you have your heart set on, you expect to deny yourself other things in order to get it. Today, all Canada is saving for a home. Unless we do save, we'll lose all right to a home, as we know it. Under Hitler, conquered people have no rights. Every dollar spent needlessly today, gives Hitler a better chance to take away your right to enjoy the luxuries that a free Canada can give you tomorrow.

Your dollars saved and invested in the New Victory Bonds work two ways for you:

Victory Bond dollars help in the fight now for your right to the things you want.

Victory Bond dollars will provide the cash for you to get what you want when the war is won.

What are a few luxuries now, compared to the years of freedom that only Victory can make possible?

NOTHING MATTERS NOW BUT VICTORY
